

FLEXITEEK WINS LEGAL ACTION AGAINST TEK-DEK

This summer Oslo City Court dealt with the Tek-Dek breach of license agreement, an agreement entered into by Flexiteek International AS and Tek-Dek Ltd. in July of 2007. The court confirmed that the license agreement is valid and that Tek-Dek Ltd. and its successor Tek-Dek Extreme are jointly liable for the payment of the license fees and 100 % of Flexiteek legal costs in this matter. The judgment is final and binding.

According to the license agreement, any successors of Tek-Dek will be subject to the obligation to pay license fees.

The judgment confirms Flexiteek's position as the owner to the original quality synthetic decking systems.
